1. The planning Section for Civil Engineering (Mélyépítési Tervosztály), attached to the Ministry of Construction, is responsible for the planning of urban sewerage installations and the construction of highways. A reorganization of this section is scheduled for the spring of 1955, when it is to be placed at the disposal of the state farms (állami gazdaságok). It is not known whether the institute will be transferred to the control of the Ministry of Agriculture or only work for the latter "on loan". The tasks of the institute will include the planning of tractor stations, irrigation schemes, and housing on state farms.
2. Probably due to the scheduled reorganization, there will be no dismissals in the section in the foreseeable future. However, the system of premiums has already been changed. Whereas an employee could formerly earn premiums of up to 60 and 70 percent of his fixed monthly salary, he can now earn only an additional five to ten percent of his monthly salary.
